MEDICINAL

The Pace That Tells.

In the six day bicycle races the pace tells terribly at the end. Man after man falls out exhausted. The victor wobbles wearily over the line. In the business race it's the same. Man after man drops out exhausted. The successful man is often a dyspeptic, unable to enjoy success. When the stomach is diseased there is not enough nutrition assimilated to sustain the body and repair the daily waste of tissues. The result is weakness, tending to collapse.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect assimilation of food by which the body is built up with sound, healthy flesh.

"I have taken one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for indigestion and liver complaint," writes Mr. C. Wilson, of Yankin College, Davidson Co., N. C. "I have had no less sleep since I commenced taking your medicine—in fact, have not felt like the same man. Before I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' I could not eat anything without feeling sick. Now I can eat anything I wish without having unpleasant feelings. Last summer our lady was teething and was so nervous that she could not sleep. I gave her your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and now she is as healthy and well as any child. I will speak a good word for your medicine whenever I have an opportunity."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure sick headache.

DR. MOTT'S NERVE PILLS

Made This Change.

DO YOU suffer from Nerve Prostration, Falling or Loss of Manhood, Impotency, Nervous Exhaustion, Shrunken or Undeveloped Organs, Youthful Errors, Excessive Use of Tobacco or Opium? Read by mail on receipt of price. DR. MOTT'S CHEMICAL CO., Cleveland, Ohio.

CATARRH

Nothing but a local remedy or change of climate will cure Catarrh. The specific is Ely's Cream Balm.

It is quickly absorbed. Gives Relief at Once. Opens and cleanses the Nasal Passages. Alleviates Inflammation. Heals and Protects the Membrane. Restores the Senses of Taste and Smell. No Mercury. ENGLISH CROWN JEWELS.

In faraway times crowns consisted of garlands of leaves or flowers, or, and less beautifully, of a plain band of metal, a diadem.

But one was not born to crowns of this sort—the victor belonged to the crown. Great worth, talent, military or naval or athletic victories, great achievements of every sort were thus rewarded.

The modern crown is derived from the diadem of the Orient. That it is jeweled goes without saying, and its devotion to jewels became a wear to royalty after the Romans had conquered Greece and Egypt and seen how effectively the Grecians and Egyptians used beautiful stones.

As the crown of Victoria's predecessor, George IV, was deemed far too heavy (seven pounds) and clumsy for the girl Queen, a new State crown was commanded made.

So in 1838, principally from the jewels of old English crowns, the new crown was made.

To begin with, the weight was reduced by a little more than half. Then the arches arising from the encircling band of gold were elevated instead of being depressed at their intersection, closing under a mound and M-tile cross.

With the jeweled framework is woven a net of royal red with white silk and edged with ermine.

From the foundation band arise four Maltese crosses and three alternate with flur-de-lys, the imperial arches rising from the top of the Maltese crosses, one of the crosses being directly in front.

This crown is composed of twenty famous jewels.

There is one large ruby, said to have been given to the Black Prince (son of Edward III) when he ravaged southern France.

A large sapphire was purchased by George IV.

Seven smaller sapphires, 11 emeralds, four rubies, 1363 brilliant diamonds, 1273 rose diamonds, 147 table diamonds, four drop-shaped pearls and 273 pearls each and all play their own part in the making of this crown beautiful.

All these jewels stand for conquest and purchase, representing many countries from Goido to the land that might have been Oom Paul's.

Third in size among the great diamonds of the world was that most famous of the crown jewels, the Koh-i-noor, before it was recut.

This brought it down from 186 carats to 106 1-16.

We have known of this great stone since 1526. It was captured by the British during the Sikh mutiny, and was recut and brought down to its present size shortly after its presentation to England's late Queen, in 1850. When in the possession of the Emperor Aurengzeb it was reduced by unskilled cutting from 793 to 186 carats.

The origin of the stone is said to be lost in the most remote ages. We read of them in mythology. We know that they were buried with Egypt's royal mummies, so it is little wonder that they play their important part in modern times.

STRANGE STORY OF ROYAL DEBT.—The Vorwarts (socialist organ) at Berlin yesterday printed a remarkable story to the effect that Emperor William's sudden departure for England was not only due to the desire to bid farewell to his dying grandmother, but still more to the Prince of Wales's urgent wish to settle a private debt affair to the Emperor before ascending the throne. This debt, the Vorwarts asserted, amounted to 24,000,000 marks, which Emperor Frederick, immediately after beginning his reign, loaned the Prince of Wales in order to place the latter in a position to pay accumulated debts to the amount of 24,000,000 marks. The loaned money, it was further asserted, was part of the savings, amounting to 56,000,000 marks, left by Emperor William I. Count von Stolberg, then minister of the imperial household, the Vorwarts also said, vainly opposed the paying out of the 24,000,000 marks, and thereupon resigned. In Berlin official circles the Vorwarts's story is characterized as a gigantic hoax. From the most trustworthy official sources it is ascertained that there is no foundation whatever for the rumors frequently appearing in the German press that Emperor William is largely indebted to Herr Krupp and other German capitalists. On the contrary, the Kaiser is not only without debt, but he is saving money yearly for his children.

MARLBOROUGH HOUSE.—There is a great deal of surmise as to what disposal will be made of the King's late residence. Both the King and Queen Alexandra are devoted to Sandringham, so his majesty will probably retain that place, but it thought Marlborough House will be given up. In the event of the Duke and Duchess of York not desiring to reside there, it is considered likely that Wm. E. Vanderbilt will purchase the place for the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, which the Duchess has long desired.

THE MOTHER'S FAVORITE.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the mother's favorite. It is pleasant and safe for children to take and always cures. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is the best medicine made for these diseases. There is not the least danger in giving it to children for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by Richard Gibson, druggist.

IT HAS BEEN FULLY demonstrated that Ely's Cream Balm is a specific for Neuralgia and "old in the head." This distinction has been achieved only as the result of a continued successful use. A morbid condition of the membrane in the nasal passages can be cured by this purifying and healing balm. Sold by druggists or it will be mailed for 50 cents by Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York. It spreads over the membrane, is absorbed and relief is immediate.

Persons who suffer from indigestion can not expect to live long, because the organs at the food required to nourish the body and the products of the undigested foods they do eat poison the blood. It is important to cure indigestion as soon as possible, and the best method of doing this is to use the preparation known as Ely's Dyspepsia Cure. It cleanses the stomach, restores all the digestive organs to perfect health.

THE BRAINS OF THE SOUTH.

Its Public Spirit, Culture and Capital,

ARE EAGERLY ENLISTED

IN FAVOR OF POLICIES WHICH MAKE

FOR PROSPERITY.

The New York Tribune is the leading exponent in the United States of the development of mines, factories, mills, railroads and trade, and all other practical sources of the common weal.

Two editions of the paper are pre-eminently suited for Southern reading—the Weekly and the Tri-Weekly.

The Weekly, issued every Thursday, is a compact review, agricultural and family paper, unexcelled for cultivators of the soil and their families. Its market reports have given that edition a special reputation. Numerous special departments are projected and managed by the Daily. The new—clear, accurate and fairly presented—is admirably played according to its value, and is never distorted. For political news you cannot find any better newspaper, and the new is given to the Daily. The editorial page breathes the spirit of patriotic patriotism and broadest charity, unclouded by any consideration save the welfare of the home and the country. Its reviews are present, wise and witty. The Tri-Weekly, $1.50 a year. Sample copies free.

Don't you think that such an admirable national newspaper should be in your own home? Thousands of Southern men read some edition of The Tribune.

Don't you think that 52 issues of the Weekly, or the 156 issues of the Tri-Weekly, or the 156 issues of the Tri-Weekly, per annum each one handsome in appearance, full of the best news and reviews, well illustrated, a purchase for yourself and family?

We will send either edition, the balance of the year free, to all subscribers now for the year 1901.

Your order can be handed to the local postmaster or sent to this office direct.

Tribune Almanac, 1901, an End of the Century number. Enlarged, carefully revised, with a rich budget of new features. 25 cents, postpaid.

Any reader, so situated that he can take a club for The Tribune, will oblige us by sending for terms and sample copies.
